Universidad Peruana Cayetano Heredia (UPCH) is a leading medical school in Lima, Peru. We are developing an international student exchange program between UF and UPCH, and we are interested in recruiting 2-4 UF medical students this summer to help kick off the program. There are many educational and research opportunities including:

Research internships in:
- Bioinformatics-- Design of epitopes for the diagnosis of taeniasis, cysticercosis, and leptospirosis.
- Parasite immunology) Detection of parasite antigens in humans and animals.
- Pediatric infectious disease-- Studies in enteric pathogens.
- Development Natural Products--Anticancer, antidiabetes, mental disorders, etc.
- Several other areas...

Educational opportunities:
- Tropical Medicine (in the jungle), Clerkships in infectious disease and tropical medicine.

UF-COM students would need to have at least some Spanish training and an interest in learning more Spanish.

For details and more information:
Professor Art Edison
Dept. of Biochemistry & Molecular Biology
University of Florida
Email: aedison@ufl.edu